Cheri report:

Our kennels are full. They haven't been this way since the beginning of Covid. Right now we have two cat cages open and five dog kennels open. If we get a couple more in, we'll have to put the signs on the door that we're full. The save rate for May was 100%. The adoptions for May we only had six, but so far for this month we've had 15.

Mr. Trentman: Do you get any calls on "heat"? Calls on dogs being overheated?

Cheri: Not overheated, but the regular humane care complaints. We haven't had anyone call in thinking a dog is having heat stroke.

Mr. Trentman: Where are most of the dogs coming in from right now?

Cheri: East Saint Louis it seems like. Gateway helps us out. Everything that comes in from their area, they take.

Mr. Wilhelm: Are the kennels full simply because of Covid related stuff?

Cheri: It's this time of year. When Covid started and the shelter in place was in effect, people were staying at home. They weren't going out and picking up strays, they were home with their animals keeping their animals off the streets. I think that helped keeping our kennels open. But every year in summertime, this is normal. Usually April or May things start to pick up. Now things are opening up and more people are calling in, or they are picking up more animals and bringing them to us. Even kitten season was late this year. Normally, around March we start seeing a big surge in cats coming in that are ready to give birth or newborn kittens. We didn't see that until the last three or four weeks.

Mr. Trentman: How are our volunteers? About the same?

Cheri: About the same. I just had a new volunteer form on my desk today. So that's good.

Mr. Trentman: We're always looking for volunteers to take the dogs out on the adoption side, right? You said adoptions are at 15?

Cheri: So far this month, yes, 15.

Mr. Trentman: Seems like things are moving along.
